Little Free Libraries

Thanks to a grant from the Idaho Commission for Libraries, Hansen Community Library established two Little Free Libraries in town. One is at Head Start and the other by the library. Please take a book and a leave a book if you can.

2020 has been a year of change for the Library

Just like for the community at large, 2020 has been a year of change for the Hansen Community Library.

After a fantastic beginning with a well-attended Let's Talk About It series and a successful Dr. Seuss Day and quilt raffle, COVID-19 forced the library to reduce services to curbside for several months. Linda Oatman, who had served as director for 32 years, retired in early June.

The Library has had to reevaluate how services are offered in response to COVID. Summer Reading, for example, was held at Rolling Hills Park. We began offering online storytime through the Hansen City Facebook page and plan to continue through at least December 31.

The Library has received a grant from ICfL to upgrade internet access inside and outside the library. Work will be done this fall.
